

SAINT
JOSEPH'S
COLLEGE
RENSELAER, INDIANA
PRESIDENT

After 8 years as president, Dr. Ernest R. Mills III will retire on June 30, 2009 as President of Saint Joseph's College. This creates an extraordinary opportunity for a dedicated educator with an earned doctorate who is willing and able to build on the firm foundation established by Dr. Mills and the Missionaries of the Precious Blood.

The Board of Trustees of Saint Joseph's College is seeking a successor to Dr. Mills who will accept with enthusiasm the challenges of fulfilling the College's current promise and preparing it for the future. For 120 years, Saint Joseph's College has built a record of exceptional liberal arts education and personal caring.

General Summary: The President is the chief executive officer of the College. In general, the President supervises and controls all the day to day business and affairs of the College. The President is vested with full administrative authority subject only to the approval, direction, and control of the Board of Trustees.

Qualities of candidates of special appeal to Saint Joseph's:

- Commitment to Catholic higher education
- Earned doctoral degree
- Senior level experience in administration of liberal arts education
- Proven decision maker
- Leadership
- Demonstrated strategic planning skills
- Demonstrated ability in fundraising and public relations
- Strong communication skills
- Energetic

While Saint Joseph's College traces its roots to 1889, it has an eye on the future. Its distinctive religious tradition is Catholic, but its climate is ecumenical. The ideal candidate will demonstrate the acceptance, understanding, and willingness to perform the duties of the office of president within the philosophy and principles of Roman Catholic higher education. The salary and benefits will be based on experience.

Please submit, electronically, nominations or letters of application, accompanied by a full vita, at least three references with current contact information, and a statement of interests and strengths. Applications will be received until the position is filled.

Stephen Ligda, Chairman
Presidential Search Committee
Prezsearch08@saintjoe.edu

An Equal Opportunity Employer